

President's Message

Call to Convention

Dear Ladies of MDCCW,

As your president, it is my privilege to invite all of the women of the Madison Diocese to come together to celebrate, learn, and pray during our 62nd convention June 7–8. This year's theme is "Women on Fire for the Lord!" The program will reflect on that topic to help us become women who will be willing to speak up for the Lord with enthusiasm and dedication.

Columbia North Vicariate selected Marianne Skrobiak to speak on her faith journey and how the Holy Spirit continues to be active in her life. After lunch she will do a presentation titled, "Seeking a Relationship With God." The second shreshop presenters will be mother and daughter from the "Hosea's Heart" Charity: Mary Kate Martin and Peggy Martin. All three speakers will suggest ways of how they keep the Lord in their life each day.

On Tuesday, June 7, the day will include a board meeting which everyone is encouraged to attend. Later that evening there will be a banquet with special entertainment by the Sister Strings. You are welcome to attend just the banquet and experience the ambiance of like-minded women. Treat yourself to a time of relaxation, entertainment, and socializing. You all have so much to share with your faith, your ideas, and just being there for one another.

On Wednesday, June 8, a short meeting will be held to update all on the happenings within NCCW. This will be followed by election of officers. Please attend and support these women who have agreed to donate their time and talents to MDCCW. The remainder of the day will include speakers, a beautiful liturgy, a delicious meal, and, of course, the fundraisers and visits to the commission tables.

Columbia North Vicariate is challenging all to make this convention the largest in recent history. Won't you help them meet their goal? Why not make your parish attendance at this convention greater than it has ever been?

Join us on June 7 and 8 at All Saints Parish in Berlin. Come for one day or two; but whatever you choose, you will be glad you attended. Please remember to invite your parish priest to join us for the liturgy and wear the CCW stole.

Continue to recognize all the blessings that God is giving to you,

Rosa Ropers

MDCCW President

From Our Province Director

I had the opportunity to attend my first NCCW Board meeting in Washington, D.C., on January 23 and 24. We arrived in D.C. on January 21 and immediately walked to the Basilica of the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception where we attended the Solemn Opening Mass for the 2016 National Prayer Vigil for Life. Cardinal Timothy Dolan, Archbishop of New York and Chairman of the USCCB Committee on Pro-Life Activities, was the principal celebrant and homilist. It was so heartwarming to see the number of enthusiastic young people and have the opportunity to talk to some of them. If only the media would report the good in the world instead of focusing only on what they feel is “sensational.”

On Friday, we took part in the March for Life just before “Jonas” (fourth worst storm in DC) started. On Saturday and Sunday, we were able to watch the historic snowstorm from inside the retreat house during our board meetings. Total snow reported was 17.8 inches at Reagan airport. Some areas received more.

Year of Mercy

By declaring this year “The Year of Mercy,” Pope Francis hopes that each of us will not only realize the abundant mercy and love God has for us, but that we extend that mercy to others. He is asking us to open our eyes to see the misery in the world and realize that it is up to us to help. The Works of Mercy give us the way to measure if we have been living as disciples of Christ. The Corporal Works of Mercy are ways to be charitable to the bodily needs of our neighbors. The Spiritual Works of Mercy are the ways we care for their spiritual needs.

NCCW programs give us guidelines to help us carry out our works of mercy. They include Spiritual Adoption of the Unborn, Women Healing the Wounds, Mary’s Mantle. New programs are being developed on Human Trafficking, Immigration, and Respite. NCCW has a new logo to be introduced in the May Catholic Woman.

Convention

The NCCW convention this year is at the Indianapolis Marriott downtown on September 7–10. Registration remains at only $320. Keep watching the website nccw.org for details. We expect to have bus transportation from Wisconsin.

Remember the cookbook from 2003? It is being updated, and new recipes can be submitted until July 15. Inserts will be sold for $8, and full cookbook including the inserts will be $25. Diocesan presidents will have all of the information that is needed for this and the NCCW convention.

I look forward to your convention in June.

From Our Spiritual Advisor

St. Francis once said, "A single sunbeam is enough to drive away many shadows." To me that means even a little kindness, an encouraging word, or simple smile can drive away some of the sadness of the world. In other words, you and I have the potential to make a difference.

Many people seem to think one person is so insignificant that they really can't change much of the darkness and shadows of our contemporary world. St. Francis reminds us we are that sunbeam. We do make a difference. We have an impact on the lives of other people one person at a time. If we are an individual of light, we can change the life of another. If we can be that sunbeam as individuals, imagine how much good we can accomplish together as members of the Council of Catholic Women. Through this organization we as members can bring a great deal of light into our world.

We must remember God is always working through us. What we can't accomplish on our own to make the lives of other people better, God can. The Holy Spirit is with us to help us be the Lord's instruments in the world. With God all things are possible.

God bless you for being a sunbeam in our world.

Leadership Commission

Many Resources Available

We have many wonderful resources to help us and our organizations through the National Council of Catholic Women (NCCW), especially its website (nccw.org), the Catholic Woman magazine, and NCCW Connect newsletter.

A few leadership ideas we can do are:

- Share your copy of the Catholic Woman magazine and the Connect newsletter, or copy articles to share with others. Give credit to NCCW.
- Encourage attending convention as that is a time to hear wonderful speakers, grow spiritually, and connect with many wonderful Catholic women. It is like a retreat, workshop, and reunion all in one. If needed, hold fundraisers to help defray the cost of convention. Once you go, you'll want to come back.
- Get the next generation involved. Have programs for them or work on their projects.
- Be the Voice of Catholic Women every minute!

God has given us a great gift of NCCW, through its many programs that promote life and protect the human dignity of those with no voice including the unborn, very young, very old, the suffering, and immigrants. As Catholic Woman magazine says, "Every Life is Worth Living." Sometimes we get so busy in our lives we forget about others. By becoming Individual Members of NCCW or having our organizations become Affiliate Members, we enable NCCW to provide these programs and "we are able to put our faith into action, spread the Good News of Jesus, and have a stronger Catholic voice that instills HOPE."

MDCCW offers these same benefits on a more local scale. We share this information to help your councils be more active and share in your faith journey. CCW is made up of Catholic women with beautiful and amazing gifts. When we come together we can accomplish great things.

A Million Works of Mercy!

Women of Prayer and Action, Celebrating the Extraordinary Jubilee Year of Mercy, Living the Spiritual and Corporal Works of Mercy Every Day. This is our latest NCCW program and reflects beautifully the Pope's Year of Mercy. We want this program to unite members in a common goal as well as share our dedication to helping others. The program runs from April 3 to November 20. Information is on the website and in other articles in this newsletter.

Consider Being a Leader

It's that time of year again when our organizations are looking for ladies who will serve as officers and committee chairs. Why do we always feel, "I'm not worthy, I could never do that, I don't have any talent for getting up in front of a group, I don't have time, I served my time...?"

You know what, you are not alone. Moses was called, and he said he wasn't a good speaker. Sarah said she was too old. Mary probably felt she was not worthy or able to handle raising such a special child. Jeremiah said he was too young. Do you think Peter felt worthy when he couldn't even stay awake while Jesus prayed, or after denying that he knew Jesus? Paul had been persecuting Christians so why would God call him?

God knows we are not perfect and he sees potential in us we don't see. Jesus is calling each one of us to go on a life-changing journey that is spiritually fulfilling and directed by God. Listen to his call.

I close with some of my favorite quotes:

Pray for wisdom: in what to say and in what to do.

We are never too old to serve God.

It's one thing to receive gifts of the Holy Spirit; it's another thing to use them.

The next time you hear God calling have the courage to say, "Here I am, Lord. Send me!"

Restore Donations

While watching TV one day, I heard an ad for Glad trash bags and a project they are sponsoring called "Glad to Give." Glad will give you a free yellow bag to use for donating items. Upon visiting their web-site the following quote caught my eye, "Make someone's house feel like a home. Fill a Glad bag with gently used household items for a local Habitat Restore and you can help us support Habitat for Humanity's mission to build a world where everyone has a decent place to live." There are two Restores in Madison at 4207 Monona Drive and 5906 Odana Road, and one in Baraboo at 615 South Blvd.

If you want more information on this project check out

Fair Trade Chocolate Sales

Purchasing Fair Trade products insures that the growers of these products receive a fair price for their products. In the past, many parishes have chosen to sell Divine Chocolate with the profits from these sales going to benefit The Donkey Project. Please consider sponsoring a chocolate sale at your parish. You can order the chocolate from SERRV (a fair trade outlet) located at 2701 Monroe Street, Madison (608-233-4438). For information on The Donkey Project, contact Clarence Mougín, Global Solidarity Partnership Coordinator at 608-850-4084 or email: clarencemougin@charter.net.

Cross Catholic Outreach

National Council of Catholic Women began a partnership with Cross Catholic Outreach in 2011, and many women and children around the world have benefitted from this collaboration. In Haiti, the Sisters of Mary Immaculate are ministering to poor families through the Marie Louise Bayle Center providing nutritional, medical, and educational programs. On the border with the Dominican Republic, the Evangeliste Sisters are helping to fight human trafficking. In Guatemala, the Capuchin Sisters operate the St. Joseph Nutrition Center to help rescue starving children. For more information on this partnership visit nccw.org.

A Million Works of Mercy

To celebrate the Extraordinary Jubilee Year of Mercy, NCCW wants your help in reaching A Million Mercies! Beginning on Divine Mercy Sunday, April 3, until the Feast of Christ the King, November 20, keep track of the mercies you perform using the form and information found at nccw.org. Many of you will find these are things you are doing on your own or as an organization. You are asked to send in your totals monthly either by email or regular mail.

Wisconsin Catholic Conference

Kim Wadas was named executive director of the Wisconsin Catholic Conference (WCC) upon the retirement of John Huebscher. I have referred to the WCC in previous columns and noted its website (www.wisconsinatholic.org) as being an excellent source of information on legislation. Biennially it sponsors a conference featuring wonderful speakers and workshops in which MDCCW participates.

Prior to becoming executive director, Wadas was the associate director for Health Care and Education. Wadas is a graduate of Marquette University and the University of Iowa College of Law.

Remember in all that we do we should be guided by the Seven Principles of Catholic Social Teaching. In this Year of Mercy, what can you do to show your mercy and follow the principles of Catholic Social Teaching?

Seven Principles of Catholic Social Teaching

- Life and Dignity of the Human Person
- Family, Community and Participation
- Rights and Responsibilities
- Preferential Option for the Poor and Vulnerable
- Dignity of Work and the Rights of the Workers
- Solidarity

From the Editor

What wonderful programs each of the vicariates planned for their spring meetings. Information was in the April 14 Catholic Herald and posted on the web site. The meetings provide a respite from busy lives and a chance to gather with women of faith, break bread together, pray, have fun, learn, and be inspired by the programs. Below is a quick overview of the meetings.

Columbia North, April 20, St. James Church, Neshkoro. Theme: Mary, the Mother of Us All. Program: Jim Hoegemeier, Executive Director at The Arc-Wisconsin Disability Association, and soon to be ordained a deacon.

Sauk, April 23, St. Patrick Church, Loreto. Theme: Growing in God's Love. Program: Creating a miniature prayer garden in remembrance and honor of Father Larry Bowens, deceased pastor of St. Patrick and MDCCW Spiritual Advisor,

West Dane, April 26, Holy Mother of Consolation Church, Oregon. Theme: We Are God's Helping Hands. Program: Short presentations on helping by council members. JoAnn Russell spoke on Madison SOS Senior Council; Marilyn Rebman on why go to Mass; and Carol Statz, on voting procedures and Wisconsin Shrines and Holy Places.

Grant, April 28, St. Charles Borromeo Church and School, Cassville. Program: Kris Anderson, New Ulm, MN, diocesan CCW board member, certified public accountant, and mother of seven speaking on faith, family and the Catholic Church.

The passing of Fr. Larry Bowens, co-spiritual advisor of MDCCW, brought to light many memories of this caring and compassionate priest. I was always impressed that he was so approachable. I had the pleasure to talk with several past presidents of MDCCW to gather information for the article I wrote for the Catholic Herald on Father Larry. They appreciated his honest and compassionate advising and liked him as a person as well! Connecting with Irene Sullivan, Jane Bernhardt, Pat Fisher, Rita Macewicz, and Dorene Shuda reminded me of the excellent, faith-filled leadership MDCCW has had over the years.

I look forward to seeing many of you at the convention in Berlin. Since it is the last week of high school for my youngest of four children, I plan to be there for the second day only. Feeling sorry about missing the first day, I am sure others have similar feelings. A study group is considering whether to hold the convention one day only. Since starting to attend the convention with my mother, I have enjoyed both days. Attend what you can and enjoy and share your comments with the board.

Million Works of Mercy

ARLINGTON, Va., March 30, 2016 /Christian Newswire/ — On Divine Mercy Sunday 2016 — April 3rd — the National Council of Catholic Women launched “A Million Works of Mercy” in honor of the Extraordinary Jubilee Year of Mercy. “We are the hands and feet and voices of Jesus — in our homes, our parishes, our communities, our nation and beyond our borders through our partnerships with Catholic Relief Services and Cross Catholic Outreach,” says NCCW President Sheila Hopkins.

Members of NCCW are responding to Pope Francis’s call to reawaken our passion to help the poor and needy of our communities through corporal and spiritual works of mercy.

NCCW members will start counting works of mercy — with a goal of one million works before the end of the Jubilee year in November 2016 — as they perform both big and small works of mercy in their councils, parishes, local communities, and beyond. There is a form for members to start counting works of mercy on the NCCW website, www.nccw.org, and the count will be updated monthly.

“We are feeding the hungry and speaking out for adequate funding for school nutrition programs. We are collecting clothing for the needy and advocating for job training and a living wage. We are comforting those who have suffered loss and visiting the sick and broken. We are making lunches and swinging a hammer with Habitat for Humanity or local home improvement groups and contacting legislators with evidence of housing fraud or insurance redlining,” says Jane Carter, NCCW Supporting Member who designed the initiative.

In this Extraordinary Jubilee Year of Mercy, Pope Francis says to each of us: “It is my burning desire that, during this Jubilee, the Christian people may reflect on the corporal and spiritual works of mercy. It will be a way to reawaken our conscience, too often grown dull in the face of poverty.”

Works of Peace Donations Due

All Works of Peace donations must be received by April 30 to be included in this year report.

Keynote Speaker

MARIANNE F. SKROBIAK

Women on Fire for the Lord

How can we call women to the table if we don't know who they are? How can we be intentional disciples?

Do you have a fire in your belly? What would that look like for you? Women are relational by nature. We like to connect with others including the Lord. Do you have a personal relationship with Jesus? Are you in love with the Risen Lord? What do you see in others that could be described as being on fire? Stop letting fear of what others think of you stop you from being on fire with the Holy Spirit. There are so many opportunities for us to witness to the power of God in our lives. Let's do it.

Marianne Skrobiak is a retired psychotherapist who was in private practice in the Milwaukee area for over 21 years. She earned a Master's degrees in counseling and theology following her own divorce after a long term marriage. She became active in the Catholic Charismatic Renewal in 1978 and serves as the liaison for the Archdiocese of Milwaukee. Marianne has been active in River of Life Prayer Group for many years and considers the people there to be her spiritual family. She is the mother of two and the grandmother of four (one in heaven). She has had a ministry to the separated and divorced for over 18 years and has a Return to Life DVD set designed to help parishes offer healing to many. Marianne is active in her parish community serving as lector, Eucharistic minister, and presider over communion services. You can check out more about her at her website: www.gentlewhisperonline.com.

Hosea's Heart

There aren't many women in their mid-20s who would give up a teaching career and move to a southern African country to help young women in need, but sometimes all it takes is one person to make a difference. Twenty-eight year old Marshall native Mary-Kate Martin is one of those women. A member of Holy Family Parish in Marshall and Waterloo is the founder and executive director of Hosea's Heart. Hosea's Heart exists to empower the girls of Swaziland in Africa to achieve freedom from sexual abuse and hope for a better future by serving their physical, emotional, and spiritual needs. The organization was named for Hosea, a prophet in the Old Testament whom God commanded to pursue and marry a prostitute as a reflection of God's passionate love for His beloved children.

With her mother Peggy Martin, Mary-Kate will tell the story of her work at the shareshop session after lunch on Wednesday.

For more information on Hosea's Heart, including how to support the mission, go to www.hoseasheart.org.

Spirituality Shareshop

Marianne Skrobiak

Seeking a Relationship with God

Keynote speaker Marianne Skrobiak will conduct the second shareshop at the convention on "Seeking a Relationship with God — How do we do that?" She says, "We need first to look at the people in our lives that draw us to the Lord? They seem to have a joy, happiness, and hope that we long for." A retired psychotherapist, Marianne will offer help on creating a stronger relationship with God. She suggests fears as well as other blocks may stop us from reaching out to God. Ultimately, Marianne contends, "All that's required to have a relationship with God is openness — a desire to have one. Open wide the door of your heart, ask the Lord in, and then watch what happens."

2016 MDCCW Nominees

MDCCW delegates will elect officers for two-year terms at the Wednesday, June 7, business meeting. As of this issue going to press, we have no candidates for (co)president-elect. At a previous convention the by-laws were changed to allow for co-presidents. Ellen Martin and Suzanne Koch will be installed as co-presidents to succeed President Rosa Ropers. Linda Ripp is a candidate for secretary, and Kathy Loy is a candidate for treasurer.

Co-Presidents

Ellen Martin and Suzanne Koch

Ellen Martin and Suzanne Koch are both from the Columbia North Vicariate. Elected in 2014 as MDCCW treasurer, Martin had previously served a two-year term as president of the Columbia North Vicariate and is a past president and secretary of the Good Shepherd CCW in Westfield. She serves as an Extraordinary Minister of Holy Communion and helps lead a mission to recycle used greeting cards into fresh, salable cards. In the community, Ellen has volunteered as an officer and president of the Marquette County Historical Society. She and her husband Brian have two adult sons, Timothy and Philip. Retired from a career with K-Mart, she works in food service for the Westfield school district.

Suzanne started getting active with the CCW in the last eight years as her four children went off to college. A member of All Saints Parish, Berlin, she was president-elect of Columbia North Vicariate, having previously served as president and secretary of her parish CCW. After attending MDCCW conventions for several years, she "greatly enjoyed" attending her first NCCW convention in Grand Rapids, MI. A speech therapist for the Berlin School District, she and her husband John, are empty nesters and are "finding many ways to spend our time, including walking, taking drives and watching movies together."

SecretaryLinda Ripp

Linda is a life-long member of St Martin's in Martinsville, which is near Cross Plains. She has been a member of CCW for almost 30 years and is currently president of her parish CCW. A past-president and current secretary of West Dane Vicariate, Linda played a major role in the success of last year's convention in Middleton. She attended her first National Convention in 2014!

She and her husband David have two sons Michael and John who live in nearby Lodi. She is a preschool teacher in Middleton and serves as secretary of Waunafest, a community festival in Waunakee.

TreasurerKathy Loy

Kathy Loy has served as historian and photographer for the MDCCW since 2012 and in that role she has learned a great deal about MDCCW which she has taken back to her vicariate and parish CCWs. She serves as Grant Vicariate treasurer and was active in planning the 2013 convention in Belmont.

The oldest of five daughters (six minutes older than her twin sister, past MDCCW President Coreen Marklein), she has been involved with church activities from the time growing up in Spring Green. She attended St. John the Evangelist Catholic School, River Valley High School and Southwest Technical College.

Kathy and her husband Joe are parents of three sons and have two grandchildren. Since 1985 they have lived in Fennimore where they are active in St. Mary Church which is part of Queen of All Saints parish. Joe is a district deputy for the Knights of Columbus and a member of the Honor Guard with the Fourth Degree K.C. Among the many activities with which they are involved is Come for Supper, a joint ecumenical venture among the churches in Fennimore. It provides 235 to 350 free meals once a month to residents in the Fennimore School District.

Kathy credits MDCCW President Rosa Ropers for getting her more involved with the council. Then a member of the Grant Vicariate, "Rosa asked me to think about serving and perhaps taking an office. I said 'yes' to Rosa at that time after a lot of prayer, a leap of faith, and the support of our Grant Vicariate."
